Sirius Named NetApp Central Partner of the Year

Sirius Recognized as FY17 Central Partner of the Year by NetApp

San Antonio, TX – 25 August, 2017 – Sirius Computer Solutions, Inc., a leading national IT solutions integrator, has been named NetApp Central Partner of the Year for its overall FY17 revenue, year-over-year growth, key account wins and participation in regional partnership activities.

Sirius is a NetApp Star Partner and boasts a top 10 ranking in national and healthcare partner status with NetApp. As a result of this success, Sirius is one of a select group of partners to be included in NetApp's National Partner Program. With 122 NetApp accreditations and 56 certifications, Sirius' dedicated teams of solution architects and IT consultants deliver deep technical knowledge and expertise.

"NetApp's success is closely tied to the success of our regional partners, especially as we build on our data driven customer vision," said Jeff McCullough, vice president, Channel Sales, NetApp. "Congratulations Sirius on being named NetApp Central Partner of the Year winner. NetApp looks forward to continuing to work together to enable our joint customers to drive innovation and business outcomes for both NetApp and our customers."

"We thank NetApp for recognizing Sirius as its Central Partner of the Year," said Darren Gourley, vice president of infrastructure solutions for Sirius. "This award is a true testament to our partnership and our commitment to delivering the storage solutions our clients depend on to address their needs today and into the future."

The 2017 Americas Partner Awards were announced on stage at NetApp's inaugural Channel Connect Conference (C³) where partner executives from across the Americas region gathered to hear about NetApp's strategic vision and engage with NetApp executives.
